

Life in Captivity

So sad. Yes, it's that unfortunate time again. The time when Lockheed treats you like a . . . well — let's just say — a poor caged animal.

Captive meetings are back in vogue and you may even see a bit of overtime to attend. Do you have to go? Well, Lockheed's the boss — at least until this coming Friday, March 20. On that day, when the ballots are mailed from the NLRB, Lockheed will be required to stop the mass captive meetings. If they don't, you know who to call.

Need more information?
Checkout www.goiam.org or
Google "AFSS IAM"

International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers