Who Has the JUICE Governors Do

Experience teaches us that the chief executive officer – the governor – can make a real difference in the lives of IAM members. On issue after issue, governors have the power to get things done.

The IAM surveyed likely voters six weeks ago. And those folks – Republicans, Democrats and Independents alike – told us that they wanted candidates for governor to focus on pocket-book issues.

More than four out of five voters said they wanted a governor who would: Work for sustainable economic development and good Jobs; change the laws that let Utility rates skyrocket and Insurance companies rip us off; shorten their daily Commute and give their kids a fair start in Education. That's why we are asking "Who has the JUICE?"

Already thousands of Machinists have answered that question by saying, "HELL YES, I am going to vote for governor on November 7." And you can too.

Go to www.GOIAM.org. Hit the HELL YES button. Type in your name and state (email address is optional) and hit that button again. Check out how many IAM names you recognize. Then urge your friends to add their "John Hancock" to the virtual wall.

On Election Day, November 7, only you will know how you voted. But by hitting the HELL YES button, the entire World Wide Web will know that you've taken a stand to make this a better land.
