

House Subcommittee's 2012 Budget Would End Most Amtrak Service

STAND UP FOR OUR TRAINS!

Every day, more and more Americans are riding trains, avoiding the stresses and high cost of driving and flying.

Amtrak ridership continues to set records and many trains are full. With our population growing and fuel prices soaring, we need more, not fewer, trains!

Yet an Appropriations subcommittee of the U.S. House of Representatives passed a spending plan for fiscal 2012 (starting Oct. 1, 2011) that:

- cuts Amtrak's operating assistance by 60%
- has no funding for much needed high-speed rail
- prohibits using federal funds for state-supported short-distance trains ... ending passenger service in 15 states

We need your help!

Now is the time for Americans to defend Amtrak, the vital travel choice that so many Americans depend on. Tell your Representative that shutting down Amtrak would be a disaster. Maintaining and increasing investment in passenger trains is a cost-effective way to meet our national transportation and energy needs.
