March 29, 2023

The Honorable Ken Calvert
Chairman
Subcommittee on Defense
Committee on Appropriations
H-405, The Capitol
Washington, D.C. 20515

The Honorable Betty McCollum
Ranking Member
Subcommittee on Defense
Committee on Appropriations
1016 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Chairman Calvert and Ranking Member McCollum,

We are writing to strongly urge the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Defense markup of the FY2024 Defense appropriations bill add at least eight to sixteen (+8 to +16) Air National Guard (ANG)/ Air Force Reserve (AFR) C-130J aircraft, add five (+5) Navy Reserve (USNR) KC-130J to begin C/KC-130T recap, add two (+2) KC-130Js for USMC operational aircraft losses, and begin adding two (+2) ANG LC-130J and $68 million for non-recurring engineering for the ANG's new start of the LC-130J replacement of the 3 oldest LC-130Hs as they near 50 years of age. These actions would continue the unfunded recapitalization of roughly 60% of the 150 legacy Air National Guard (ANG) and Air Force Reserve (AFR) C-130Hs and begin recapitalization of the 30 aging USNR C-130T fleet logistics aircraft and the 10+ oldest NYANG LC-130H "arctic ski birds."

FY2024 represents uncharted territory as the first year after MYP-III (FY2019-2023) – a multiyear procurement program that saved more than 10 percent per aircraft and more than $379 million over 50+ C-130J aircraft. There are only two C-130J variants programmed from FY2024 until FY2027, when the USN is planned to begin funding 30+ EC-130Js for the US Navy TACAMO "Take Charge and Move Out" strategic submarine communications air fleet.

Recapitalization of the aging USNR C-130T fleet by 2030, +3 of which were included in the FY23 USN UPL and USNR's top equipment priority, would deliver capabilities sought by Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Mike Gilday in the Navigation Plan 2022. Unfortunately, the existing C/KC-130T has a low mission capable rate. Noted by the Chief of Navy Reserve, Vice Admiral John Mustin in 2022 before the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Defense, recapitalizing the USNR C-130 fleet will provide an annual transportation cost savings of $200 million. As the US Navy's sole source of intra-theater air logistics replenishment of its ships, new recapitalized KC-130Js would ensure longer range, more survivable Navy operations in a contested logistics environment thereby improving the combat ship fleets operations in a near-peer conflict.

The C-130J program remains the only active U.S. airlifter production line and the longest continuously running military production line in history. The current C-130J Super Hercules is the most capable tactical airlifter in the world. By design, the C-130J provides significant operational and support savings, more operational capability per aircraft, lower life cycle costs, common logistics and training support, and improved active duty and air reserve component interoperability. A stable C-130J production line supporting current and future validated DoD requirements is the best approach to preserving the 380 suppliers across 36 states that support the 27,200 direct and indirect jobs, yielding more than $3.7 billion of total economic impact. C-130J production is currently declining from 2020's healthy rate of 24+ aircraft per year down to 20 per year, and only continued adds will keep it from falling further. The previous strong production rates were a direct result of MYP-III as well as 64 critical bipartisan adds during FY2017-2023 Congressional appropriations cycles. A significant drop in production over the next three years could dramatically increase C-130J pricing, undermine national security and that of our allies at a dangerous time in world affairs, and erode the strength of the national supplier base when many future requirements remain unfilled.

Thank you for your consideration of this urgent request.

Sincerely,
