Sustainable Maine Fishing Foundation

Support the Lobstermen of Maine

You can find them on the water in extreme cold winter months, or in the scorching summer sun. They are up at dawn and work late into the evening hours. The lobstermen of Maine have an unmatched dedication to their “job” and to their industry. An industry that is in constant jeopardy as new regulations threaten their way of life, their livelihoods, their future, and the future generations.

Sustainable Maine Fishing Foundation is a not-for-profit organization made up of men and women from all facets of the Lobstering Industry. Together, we are dedicated to protecting the Gulf of Maine to advance and preserve the rights of the fishing community . SMFF promotes a sustainable Gulf of Maine, free of ocean industrialization from Offshore Wind, huge foreign fish farms, and arbitrary federal closures of Maine’s fishing grounds.

The coast of Maine ranks as one of the most sustainable fisheries in the world. Lobstermen go to great lengths to ensure that the lobster population will remain strong for years to come. Maine’s heritage fishery has been feeding the nation for decades due to the sustainable practices Maine fishermen instilled in their fishery and still practice on a voluntary basis today.

It is our belief that we, the men, and women of the Lobster Industry, should have a say in our own destiny. We need to protect our bays, our waters, our way of life, and our legacy.

Could you imagine a day that you go to your favorite seafood restaurant....and there is no Maine Lobster? Where would it come from if not from Maine? We hope that none of us ever have to know.
